

Developing a Solution

To address the problem of storm damages, the Corps is developing a Plan for the South Shore of Long Island from Fire Island Inlet to Montauk Point, NY. The goal is to analyze all reasonable alternatives for storm damage reduction, and to identify the best combination of these alternatives to develop the optimal plan.

The problems in analyzing and combining the methods into a workable solution can be met through a variety of technical studies, provided we receive clear and timely feedback from our partners, government agencies, and the public... YOU!

We welcome any comments that you may have that may help us in scoping the studies which are necessary for determining the potential impacts or arriving at a decision on which alternatives to study further.
